

THE 90-SECOND NEWBERY FILM FESTIVAL

CALLING ALL YOUNG FILMMAKERS! IT'S A SHOT AT NATIONAL GLORY!

Make a movie for the 15th annual 90-Second Newbery Film Festival.
Movies due on March 20, 2026.

The 90-Second Newbery Film Festival is an annual national video contest in which young filmmakers create short movies that tell the entire stories of Newbery-winning books. Adult help is OK. Weird twists are encouraged: think Charlotte's Web as a horror movie, or Holes in Lego stop-motion, or Hatchet as a musical!

The Rochester screening will be at the George Eastman Museum on April 25, 2026!

Your movie might be featured! Join film festival founder James Kennedy (author of The Order of Odd-Fish) and Bruce Coville (author of Aliens Ate My Homework and other books) as they present the year's best kid-made movies. Your movie may be shown at shows across the country—in New York, Chicago, Boston, San Antonio, and more!

Learn complete information about the 90-Second Newbery Film Festival—including hints on how to make your own 90-Second Newbery, plus help for homeschoolers, librarians, teachers, and first-time moviemakers—at our website:

www.90secondnewbery.com